During the course, one competitor will be on the field without a map, while the other competitor will be in the designated area, with the map, and will use a mobile phone to guide the competitor on the field. When handing over the SI card, the competitor who ran on the field goes to the map reading area, hands over the SI card to his partner, and takes his map. The competitor who was reading the map, then goes to the start and starts his course. Competitors will run with ONE competitor SI card, so "handing over the SI card" will actually be handing over the competitor card.
Additionaly rules:	During the race, competitors will be able to communicate only by audio call. Video call is not allowed. There will be judges in the card reading area who will immediately disqualify any competitor who violates this rule.
